President Hoover Rules Farm Board To Defend Itself

Discusses Developments in Politics With Watson Tuesday

NAMES THREE JUDGES

Holds That Farm Board Is Congress Creation and Independent

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senate Republican leader, Watson, said Tuesday after a breakfast conference with the president, that they had agreed that there would be no necessity for a reorganization of the Republican National Committee at this time.

Told to be adjourned, Mr. Watson said at least for the time being.

Reports have been current recently that President Hoover intended to make a complete reorganization of the National Committee, beginning with the chairmanship.

The farm board situation, the prospective $700,000,000 treasury deficit and party politics are expected to be major topics.

The White House, in announcing the president would not interfere in the farm board intention to lay out of this year's wheat market, it is known that President Hoover felt that board was created and given responsibility by congress and that it was as completely independent of presidential influence as the interstate commerce commission.

Board Stands After Attacks

The White House announcement concerning the farm board resulted from attacks on the board as a result of its action to wage stabilization operations on the 1931 wheat crop.

Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, a strong administration supporter, has advocated abolition of the board while other administration senators have defended the decision.

In the face of opposition from Senator Schall, Republican, Minnesota, the president appointed Gunnar H. Nordby to be judge of the United States district court for that state. Schall announced he would oppose confirmation.

At the same time Hoover appointed James A. Fee to be United States judge for Oregon and John Knight to be judge of the western district of New York.

Hurley For Curtis

Meanwhile, Secretary Hurley, who accompanied President Hoover on his Caribbean trip, last little time in removing himself from the center of a vice presidential boom which sprang up during his absence. He announced he would support Vice President Curtis for renomination and re-election.

Another vice presidential possibility mentioned frequently during President Hoover's trip was Theodore Roosevelt Jr., governor of Porto Rico, who received wide publicity through the president's visit to that island.

Vice President Curtis conferred 30 minutes Monday with President Hoover. He said later he had no plans for his future political activities and that if he had he would not announce them at this time.

Reports have been published recently that Curtis intended to run for the senate in 1932, giving up his vice presidential seat.

Confers With Hyde Secretary Hoover conferred with Secretary Hyde concerning the progress of drouth relief shortly before the cabinet member left for Memphis, Tenn., to confer with relief officials.

Hyde told the president the work was moving forward rapidly and that 146,486 loans totaling $2,485,486 had been made up to and including Friday, March 27.

Hoover does feel, however, that the work of the board during the depression has been herculean in scope and of great service to agriculture.

Hoover probably will await more definite figures on the threatened treasury deficit before announcing plans for meeting it.

Earthquake Strikes In Panama Islands

Capital of Nicaragua Entirely Devastated Report Discloses

PANAMA CITY.—(AP)—The Tropical Radio company Tuesday reported that the city of Managua, the capital of Nicaragua was destroyed by an earthquake early Tuesday morning.

Only a few houses in the town were reported to have been left standing and these were on fire.

Forty persons were reported killed, although communications into the area were interrupted.

The Tropical Radio operator reported that the cable office was in ruins and the Tropical company was operating from Plant five miles outside of the city.

Avenger of Fathers

Murder Faces Trial

Mrs. Helen Spence Eaton Kills Man in Court Room in January

DE WITT, Ark.—(AP)—Mrs. Helen Spence Eaton, 17-year-old avenger of her father's murder went to trial Tuesday.

Four jurors had been chosen when court adjourned until the afternoon session.

The girl went to trial in the same courtroom in which two months ago she shot Jack Worls to death as the jury decided the case in his trial for the murder of her father, Cicero Spence, a White river boatman.

Come to the Kitchen

Urges Miss Garrett

It Hasn't the Old-Time Drudgery She Tells Modern Girls

"Come into the kitchen!" It's a great place, declares Miss Radu Sue Garrett, who will tell local women all about it in her free cooking school lectures here the week of April 20 at the Saenger theatre. For so long housewives have been urged to "come out of the kitchen" that the majority of the younger women, especially, Miss Garrett thinks, have come to regard the kitchen as the home's drudgery dungeon, when it really isn't at all.

The "kingdom of the kitchen" belongs peculiarly to the housewife, she asserts. It is here that she reigns supreme, at liberty to wave her magic wand of cookery and, with a dash of onion juice, a sprinkling of paprika, mixing of mushrooms and spreading of frosting, produce those magic edibles which crown her with one of the most enviable of American titles—a good cook. A man is pathetically out of place in this realm of the household—not for all his methods of efficiency, economy or far-sightedness in business, can he come into the kitchen without results, somehow, approaching the disastrous.

The modern kitchen can be as smart, colorful, and convenient as any other part of the house, the economics authority maintains, and rightly so—since he housewife must spend much of her time there. The wisest house-

Texarkana Man Is Held as Suspect in Texas Bank Holdup

Cashier and Teller Fail to Positively Identify Man Monday

HELD AT ASHDOWN

Chester Willoughby Said to Be One of Pair Who Stole Auto

TEXARKANA.—Chester Willoughby, about 30, who was sentenced to the Texas state prison in 1921, as one of the men who seized a $4000 payroll of the International Croesing and Construction company in a daring daylight holdup, was being held in jail here Monday night in connection with the attempted robbery of the Guaranty Bond State Bank at Redwater, February 24.

R. W. Hanks, cashier and Miss Eura Langston, teller, who were held up by two armed men, failed Monday afternoon to positively identify Willoughby as one of the bandits but Clyde Hill, farmer, declared Willoughby was one of the men who ran from the bank.

His statement was bolstered by those of N. T. Davis and Joe White, both of New Boston. They identified Willoughby as one of two men who stole Leon Missildine's car, three 45 minutes before the bank robbery attempt. The Missildine car was used by the bandits.

Positive Identification

Davis, an employee in Missildine's store, said he watched Willoughby and another man get into the car and said he informed Missildine when they drove away. White was equally as positive in his identification, picking Willoughby out of 15 prisoners he viewed in the Bowie county jail at Boston Monday.

N. D. Lewis Dies at Home in Texas

Former Hope Man, 83, Survived by Older Brother in This City

N. D. Lewis, 83, many years ago a citizen of Hope and widely known in this county died at his home in Alexandria, Tex., last Friday friends here have learned.

Mr. Lewis was a brother of W. G. Lewis, 122 South Washington avenue, this city, and an uncle of Paul Lewis.

The Hope relatives were notified of the death by telegram Saturday, and were unable to attend the funeral service on account of the time. The Texas brother was three years younger than W. G. Lewis, who at the age of 86 is one of Hempstead county's pioneer citizens.

N. D. Lewis was a consistent member of the Christian church and widely beloved citizen at his Texas home. He is survived by his widow and several children.

How Hoover Rested on Vacation

Apparently far from the cares of state as the U. S. S. Arizona cruised through smooth southern waters, President Hoover here is shown reading and smoking on a sunny deck of the dreadnaught. A very weary man when he left Washington, the Chief Executive is reported to have been greatly rested by such quiet hours during his Caribbean vacation and business trip. Even on board, however, he could not achieve complete solitude. Note the Marine at the right assigned to guard the President.

Burke Ready To Fight Tight Case

Refuses to Answer Questions By New York or Chicago Officers

ST. JOSEPH, Mich.—(AP)—Fred Burke, termed the nation's most desperate killer, set out to fight "a tight case." That was his description of the Michigan murder charge which brought "the most dangerous man alive" back from Missouri.

He took the first step by refusing to waive preliminary examination. Justice of the Peace Joseph Collier bound him over to April 8, when he must show why the state should not hold him for the slaying of Traffic Policeman Charles Skelly.

Stolidly silent, Burke said only in court that he would plead not guilty to the count which might send him to prison for life.

Later, a deputy sheriff asked him a random question about the shooting. "That's a serious matter," he snapped back. "I don't want to talk about it. They've got a tight case against me here."

Other "serious matters" came up to harass him in his cell. Chicago detectives, who wanted him for the St. Valentine's Day massacre, gave up their investigation. But in the afternoon Capt. Patrick McVeigh and Sgt. Michael McNamara of New City arrived to question Burke about the slaying of Frankie Yale (or Uale), Brooklyn bootleg king.

Yale was rumored to have run the afoul of Alphonse Capone's liquor plans. Rumor also linked Burke to Capone.

Detectives Give Up The detectives, however, got small satisfaction. They yanked two questions and then postponed their examination until later.

"What's your religion, Fred?" McVeigh asked.

"Me? Oh, I'm a Hindu."

"Yeah? You're short a turban, aren't you?"

"Oh, I gave that to a photographer to drape over his camera."

Lawyers have been hired by Burke to "protect my interests." He said that Barratt O'Hara, Chicago lawyer who defended Virgil Kirkland in the Gary, Ind., "flaming youth" murder trial, would be one of them.

It was considered probable that the Burke case would not come up for trial before the May term. That will mean a six-week probable sojourn in jail.

Hundreds of curious citizens, who once knew Burke as "Fred Dane," a wealthy business man, surged into the jail today to get a glimpse of him. He had been regarded as a quiet, likeable personality during his life here as "Dane," and St. Joseph was surprised to learn, after the Skelly slaying, that "Dane" was Burke, using this small Lake Michigan shore town as a hide-out.

Reapportionment Up to an Initiated Act

JONESBORO.—(AP)—Legislative reapportionment defeated by the last legislature, will be initiated by the people before it becomes an actuality, is the belief of Judge Archer Wheatley, Craighead county representative at the Forty-Eighth General Assembly. Necessary steps will be taken in the near future, he believes.

Honor Pledge Is Given Local Pupils

Impressive Ceremony Is Conducted Monday Morning

Monday morning there was observed at the high school a ceremony which it is hoped will be traditional—the formal induction of new members into the National Honor Society. This year eight seniors and three juniors were administered the pledge by Eleanor Foster, senior, the only member left in the chapter after last spring's graduation. Standing so that their backs were to the group, they made the pledge of their school character, scholarship, leadership and service. The seniors were Winter Cannon, Gladys Watson, William Bundy, Ivan Bright, Faye Ward, Bertha McCrac, Elizabeth Middlebrooks and Talbot Field; the juniors were Avis Wilson, Taylor Alexander, and Ed Jack McCabe.

Miss Beryl Henry as chairman emphasized the significance of the honor. "No honor which the school can give excels the honor of election to membership in this organization," Mr. Reynolds read the communication from the faculty certifying the selection of the 11 candidates. Miss Winborn spoke of the aims of the society. Both Mr. Reynolds and Miss Winborn are members of the National Honor Society. Eleanor Foster explained the meaning of the large replica of the society's emblem which was on the wall. The keystone and the flaming torch with the initial letters of the four cardinal principles of the society. Following this she administered the pledge and the new members signed the constitution which Mr. Reynolds read aloud.

The choice of members was made by the faculty. It represents for each of the members a definite and worthwhile achievement. They have made grades which enable them to stand in the upper third of their classes. These members have showed willingness to serve, to represent the school, to take part in all school activities. At the same time the announcement was made of the election of members to the National Athletic Scholarship Society. These were Edward Schooley, David McKee and Talbot Field Jr. The installation of these will occur at a later date.

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—(AP)—An airplane crashed in a residential street here late Sunday tearing away the corner of a house top as it came down. The pilot, Edward Rice, 26, Columbus, was injured seriously.

The ship, a cabin monoplane, apparently crippled by motor trouble, circled before the plunge. Firemen rescued Rice after the plane burst into flames.

Home Life Policies To Be Taken Over By St. Louis Co.

Central States to Re-Insure Home Life's Business

POLICIES PROTECTED

Detailed Contract Being Prepared By the State Commissioners

LITTLE ROCK.—A satisfactory disposal of the policy contracts of the Hope Life Insurance company was indicated Tuesday with the announcement that the policyholders' committee, officials, and stockholders, had accepted a reinsurance proposal from the Central States Life, of St. Louis.

The formal transfer will be submitted to Insurance Commissioner A. D. DuLaney, and Joe Thompson, superintendent of Missouri, for final approval. Directors of the Central States and Home Life companies also must approve, but in view of the stockholders' action this is regarded as a mere formality.

Insurance Commissioner Asa G. Caldwell, of Tennessee, and the insurance commissioners of Texas and Oklahoma telegraphed the Arkansas insurance department that they would abide by the ruling of the local authorities.

The Central States proposal will fully protect Home Life policyholders, according to the statement issued here, providing full payment of death claims, supplementary policy contracts and total disability contracts. (Continued On Page Three)

Scores Seek Fortune of Oklahoma Negro

Raymond Jackson, Vanished From Seminole Oil Fields 10 Years Ago, Has Million Dollars Awaiting Him—Impostors Plague Attorneys Endeavoring to Get Share of Mysterious Fortune

MUSKOGEE, Okla.—(AP)—Shadows of Raymond Jackson, the Seminole freedman who was—or is—a millionaire, still march through eastern Oklahoma courts.

Better than a score of negroes, flanked by eager counsel have claimed the richest 40 acres of oil land in Seminole county, allotted to Jackson by the Dawes Indian commission. And still they appear.

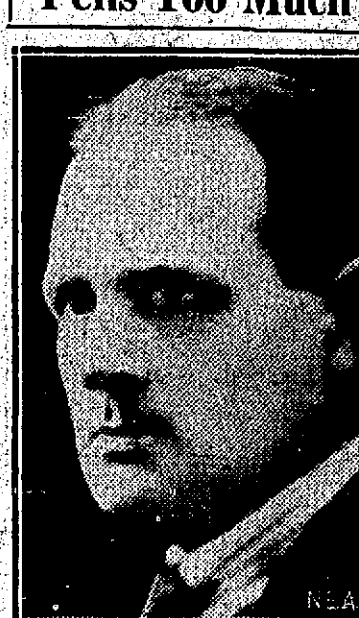

Jackson vanished a decade ago. His parents assert he was killed by a train near Blue Mountain, Ark., shortly thereafter. Meanwhile, his land has been developed by the Carter Oil company until royalties of more than $1,000,000 have been impounded.

Comedy, chicanery and a large portion of greed have been dumped into the kettle of litigation since the freedman's allotment began to glisten with black gold.

One "Raymond Jackson" was charged with forgery when the real Raymond's father and mother, Davis and Rhina Jackson disowned him. Later he was released, a court holding no one had proved Raymond actually dead.

Another suit was filed and the instigator of the action came into federal court here to press his claim. Feeding about the courtroom he encountered the accusing vestiges of

Arkansas Legion Head Loses a Bet

JACKSON.—(AP)—The streets of Biloxi are due to get a fancy dusting.

Mississippi ex-service men came to the rescue of State Commander Forrest Cooper of the Mississippi department, who would have had to sweep the streets of the Arkansas convention city had the Magnolia state come under the wire behind Arkansas.

Shades of the Billboard!

NEWSPAPER readers who are accustomed to having the editor deliver an occasional rant against a rival advertising medium, generally expect the attack to be directed against the billboard.

The Star never has criticized the correct use of outdoor advertising. It has a definite value. Like radio advertising, it is supplementary to the printed page, and will be with us as long as newspapers are. We only speak about billboards when they violate good taste, the scenic splendors of a highway or in some other manner infringe upon the public's rights. And we speak then in a disinterested fashion, for just as our own newspaper is held responsible to good taste and to the inalienable rights of the public, so must everyone who presumes to address the community.

The purpose of this editorial is to take note of a violation committed by the billboards right here in the city, and to request action by the mayor and city council.

The Railway Express Agency all over America is placing its delivery wagons and trucks with billboard advertisements. The express agency is owned by the railroads.
 The railroads are guaranteed a fixed return on their investment by the government. The government makes that guarantee because transportation is a vital service to the nation—it did not contemplate underwriting an advertising business.

It is an invasion of government into private business.
 Then new advertising venture of the express agency, of the railroads, of the government, takes business away from tax-paying local citizens, such as the men who work on the newspaper, yet it pays no tax itself.

Hot Springs has put a prohibitive tax on the express trucks, which, rather than pay it, have blanked out the advertisements.

The Star asks similar action from the City of Hope. The Interstate Commerce Commission will no doubt take proper measures against the offending billboards; but we are entitled to prompt action from our own city government.

Gentlemen Gangsters

THE rise of the gangster from criminality to respectability is not a new thing under the sun. In the old days robber chieftains often retired, in the fullness of time, to placidity under the shadow of a country mansion. In more recent days such men as Pancho Villa have given up the excitement of the chase to go back to rural simplicity and peace. And now, unless dispatches from Los Angeles are in error, Al Capone is feeling the same urge.

Capone, it seems, has his eye on a vast rancho in California. It is a huge tract of land that has been under cultivation since the early days of the Spanish occupation; a tract 35 miles long and approximately half as wide, running down to the Pacific and boasting of a fine old adobe ranch house bordered by abundant sycamore trees.

Capone would like to have this rancho for his own. Its broad acres are wide enough to form an attractive principality even for one accustomed to rulership in Chicago. Peace and quiet are to be had there, with rolling green fields and herds of contented cattle to soothe the eye.

Now California, probably, will see to it that the transfer does not take place. But the thought is attractive, nevertheless. There are things in this dull world worth giving much to see, and one of them is the ex-gang leader of Chicago ending his days as a country gentleman, entering prize cattle in the local stock shows and beaming with pride as his tomatoes and plums win fame at country fairs.

Life would be peaceful, but there would be diversions.
 On the hills of this ranch there is said to be buried treasure, hidden there by the Spanish padres years ago when brigands raided the place. Cannot one picture Senor Capone, pickaxe over his shoulder and pack mule trudging alongside, faring forth to delve for lost diamonds and plate? And is it hard to imagine him in chaps and sombrero, turning out a vaquero and riding his estate to see that all went well?

Really great brigands usually do manage to end their days in some such way as this. There seems to come a time when handitry, if only it is bold enough and successful enough, confers a sort of immunity on its author. The lawless men of other days who went to the country in the serene and yellow and laid their weapons aside to take up ploughs and spades usually managed to get away with it.

Retribution has a way of faltering and losing its voice in the presence of such men. Will we, do you suppose, yet see the underworld king of Chicago living out a life of peace on a somnolent country estate?

There is a widespread feeling over the state for the initiation of an act to reapportion the state's representation in the legislature according to population and the mandate of the law. The people can get what they want if they will go after it in spite of the politicians. —Camden News.

Radio Communication Problem of Nautilus

HARTFORD, Conn.—(U.P.)—One of the chief problems facing the Wilkins-

Sharps and Flats

A Department In Which The Editor of The Star
 Plays His Own Piano

25 YEARS AGO

I overheard the office cashier discussing an idea with the news editor yesterday. They mean to take it up with the foreman, and if he approves, all three of them will bring it to me.
 But I know what's in the air—and positively I won't consent to it.

The office cashier, who never worked on a newspaper before this one, has a mania for cleaning things up.
 It hurts her to see the floor littered with papers, though if I were to go away for a long time I would want to see plenty of papers on the floor when I got back—how else would I know anybody had done any work?

So she has talked the thing over with the news editor, and sometime today or tomorrow they are going to ask the foreman what he thinks about buying a goat and turning it loose as a sort of office scavenger.

Again I say, I am opposed to it. It is outrageous, but it would smell as sweet by any other name.

I have been ten years in the business, and this is the first time I ever heard of having to go out of a newspaper office to find a goat.
 If they bring that darn animal in here, every time I go back to the printers I'll have to pass the buck.

Hard as money is, and they go through with their plan, I'll have to wait till the first dark night and slip somebody two bucks to get rid of one.

The cashier's idea is that goats thrive on paper. But as a man of experience I could tell her that newspapers thrive on goats.

There are grave complications ahead. Where is that goat going to forage? Is he a literary goat or a business goat?

From now on I'll know where to find the Lead Editorial the Double-Column 36-point Head for Page One, the Ad Schedule, and the Check-Book.

All I'll have to do is catch the goat.

But I've talked to the foreman, and I find that whatever the cashier and the news editor think about it, the two of us are agreed they'll only bring a goat into this office over our dead bodies. It's hard enough to bat out newspaper copy on a typewriter all day long, without having the printers coming up at the last minute and saying the goat got it. And besides, the foreman is afraid of his leads and slugs. A newspaper office is always short of leads and slugs, and if a goat can swallow some editions of The Star a few pounds of brass and tin wouldn't bother him.

This sounds like nothing at all—but then you wouldn't like to be a goat either.

The linotype operators are in favor of getting the goat. They believe that all long winded stories about women's clubs, country correspondence, stories with lots of numbers in them and

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

The Plot Thickens!

She's Wife of "Arch Killer"

Shown here is Mrs. Bonnie Burke who, according to her statement to Kansas City police, married Fred Burke about a year ago, but did not know until his arrest near Milan, Mo., that for two years police throughout the nation had been seeking her husband as "the most dangerous man alive." She said she thought her husband was a salesman. Burke, wanted in many states as a professional killer and accused of the St. Valentine's gang massacre in Chicago, is to be taken to St. Joseph, Mich., to stand trial for the murder of a policeman.

ENGINEER GAVE UP, WENT HOME

Says He Could Not Stand Indigestion Any Longer.—Relieved By Black-Draught.

Pulaski, Va.—How a railroad engineer was relieved of indigestion was described by Mr. C. K. Nelson, a Fourth Street resident of this city, Mr. Nelson said:

"I was suffering from stomach trouble in 1917, and had been suffering for some time. I had a tightness in my chest, a shortness of breath. There seemed to be a heavy weight in the pit of my stomach, and quite a bit of nausea, yet I couldn't vomit. I tried different remedies, yet suffered on just the same. When in West Virginia, on a work train, I was in such a condition that I just gave up and came home. I couldn't stand to work, in my condition.

"Some one told me about Black-Draught. I started taking it in small doses after meals. It helped me and I went back to work.

"One morning while on my engine I felt like I would smother. I stopped in a little town, bought a package of Black-Draught, took a dose and later in the day took another dose. It relieved me and I have not had a bad spell like that in more than two and a half years."

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, N.Y.A. Service Writer

WASHINGTON—There is a warfare of both the country and the Republican party demand that President Hoover should be neither renominated nor re-elected, according to Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, chairman of the recent Progressive conference.

Norris and Hoover are two of the most thoroughgoing political enemies in public life. Norris was the independent Republican senator who bolted the Hoover ticket in 1928 and called for the election of Al Smith, the Democrat. He has led many anti-administration fights in the Senate and Hoover has set his face against many of the measures proposed by Norris and the other Progressives. Hoover's man, Robert V. Lucas of the Republican National Committee, tried to defeat Norris by electing a Democrat in the last Nebraska senatorial election.

The Progressive conference, although non-partisan, was in many respects an organized protest against the failure of the Hoover administration to act to meet such problems as unemployment, agricultural distress, public utilities and other matters of concern to Progressives.

Says "Superman" Failed.
 "Mr. Hoover came into office because the American people had been made to believe he was a superman," says Norris, in explaining his opposition to a second term for the president. "He promised relief for agriculture and the people were made to believe that he could bring relief. He had his own way and Congress passed the bill he wanted, giving him the authority he had requested. He has made a complete failure and agriculture is in much worse condition than when he took office."

"He has done almost nothing to meet the economic depression and the unemployment which it created. Not content with minimizing the situation and failing to act upon it, he vetoed the Wagner bill which would have established a co-ordinated national system of employment exchanges."

"Flays Partisan Attitude.
 "By partisan influence and control of the House, he has blocked relief for millions of starving and distressed American citizens and his unbecomingly arbitrary attitude has indicated that partisan considerations have more weight with him than the alleviation of human misery. Throughout his administration he has shown that he is moved by a narrow-minded partisanship, never equaled by any other president.

"After assuring agriculture that he would put it on an equality with other lines of business by proper tariff revision, he took no step to redeem that promise, but signed a tariff bill which further increased the burdens of agriculture and has also earned us the enmity of all the nations of the world because of its unreasonable and discriminatory rates."

"Under Mr. Hoover's direct leadership, his administration has done everything possible to carry out the wishes and demands of the power trust. His appointments of the new power commissioners to office, along with other appointments, show his complete and absolute sympathy with the power people in their efforts to enrich their great monopoly from our natural resources at the expense of millions of consumers of electricity."

Cites Muscle Shoals Veto
 "Using his power of veto, he destroyed the Muscle Shoals bill—a measure designed to utilize the great government property at Muscle Shoals for the cheapening of fertilizer for American agriculture and utilization of the surplus power for the benefit of people within transmission distances of the development. The power people want no yardstick which would expose their extortionate rates, so Mr. Hoover killed the bill after it had been passed by both houses of Congress."

"Under his leadership and influence, income taxes of the wealthy have been reduced without a corresponding reduction for the smaller incomes."

Blocked "Lame Duck" Bill
 "His leaders and legislative slaves have blocked that badly needed reform known as the 'Lame Duck' amendment to the Constitution and he benefited by 'Lame Duck' votes when they proved sufficient to defeat in the House the Senate amendment to provide $25,000,000 for food relief to our drought-stricken fellow citizens."

"Instead of being a superman, recent history has demonstrated that Mr. Hoover is only an ordinary individual and that the welfare of the party as well as the welfare of the country demands that he should neither be re-nominated nor re-elected."

Shining and shadow and laughter and tears; they are forever, the paints of the canvas of life day by day. We are artists; the colors are they, we are the painters; the pigments we use. Never were wholly permitted to choose. Offer with its gray tint, and joy with its red. Came from life's tubes to be blended and spread. Now with the sunshine, and now with the shade. Slowly, but surely the picture is made. Even the gray tints with beauty may glow. Revealing the joy of lost long ago. Let us not doubt it with doubt and despair. Deeds that are hasty, unkind and unfair. But when the last bit of pigment is dried. Let us look back at our canvases with pride. —E. A. G.

TEXARKANA MAN

weeks ago in Ashdown and was being held, on burglary charges involving crimes in Little River and Sevier counties. Officers here and private detectives had been seeking him for questioning since the Redwater robbery attempt and located him at Ashdown several days ago.

Hanks, Hill, a Texarkana policeman and a private detective viewed Willoughby in the Ashdown jail Saturday and Hill made his first identification.

Bowie county officers "borrowed" Willoughby from Little River county authorities Monday. County Attorney L. C. Boswell sending Deputy Sheriff C. B. Fussell and Deputy Constable Harvey Scherrer to Ashdown after him.

Sheriff Henry Brooks called Sheriff J. D. Sanderson at Ashdown late Monday inquiring as to what Little River county's attitude would be toward releasing Willoughby to Bowie officers. Sanderson said he would co-operate with officers in every way possible.

Brooks seeks custody. Sheriff Brooks went to Ashdown Tuesday to talk to Sheriff Sanderson, the sheriff of Sevier county and proscuting officers of that district relative to Texas securing custody of the suspect.

Officers plan to have Willoughby viewed Tuesday by members of a group of men who were standing outside the Redwater bank during activities of the band. They also will have Truman Holley, school teacher, look him over.

Holley's school is between Redwater and New Boston. He told officers that he was fixing a basketball court the morning of the attempted robbery and saw two men in a Ford roadster driving at a fast rate of speed toward Redwater. He said he got a good look at both of their faces.

After questioning Willoughby, at Boston Monday morning, County Attorney Boswell, Sheriff Brooks and other officers took him to Redwater for Miss Langston and Hanks to view. They then brought him to the hold-over jail here.

Although Miss Langston and Hanks could not positively identify him, officers said they found several who said Willoughby "looked like one of the two men."

Hill said he was standing outside the bank when the two men ran from it and got a good look at their faces. He said he was certain Willoughby was one of them.

Clain Enough Evidence. County Attorney Boswell said he has enough evidence to secure an indictment against Willoughby for the theft of Miss Langston's automobile. The officers planned to continue their probe into the robbery angle along several different lines Tuesday.

Suspect Denies Charge. The suspect, denied having taken part in the robbery try and claimed that he was no where in the vicinity of Redwater on that day.

HOME LIFE

without any change in the present premium rates.

Liabilities to Be Paid. All other liabilities of the Home Life company are to be paid out of other assets, it was said.

The Central States, a well known Middle Western company, has been operating for 20 years. It has assets of $14,000,000, according to the officers, with $105,000,000 insurance in force, and a surplus of $1,100,000 above liabilities. It operates in 20 states and has several million dollars worth of insurance in force in Arkansas.

George Graham, of St. Louis, vice-president of the Central States, said the proposal contains the usual provisions for delay in payment of cash surrender value and loans applied for on Home Life policies. The delay will not exceed two years, and such claims may be paid after one year if Home Life assets permit, he said.

Mr. Graham said every Home Life policyholder would receive a certificate of assumption as soon as they can be placed after the legal requirements of the reinsurance proposal have been completed.

Conway May Have To Charge Tuition

Deficit of $11,000 Foreseen at Close of Current School Year

CONWAY—(AP)—Conway is faced with discontinuance of its high school and the possibility of placing the 300 students on a tuition basis.

A recent meeting of the board of education revealed a prospective deficit of $11,000 for the 1931-32 session of school. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1931, a deficit of $9,500 has been estimated, while approximately $1,500 is expected for the next fiscal year.

School authorities are awaiting the outcome of the proposed special session of the state legislature to provide additional revenue for public schools. Under the present redefined school law the district cannot increase its indebtedness after incurring a deficit in operating expenses.

25 Wild Geese Die Plunging Into Oil

Flock Mistakes Reflection of Oil Pit at Smackover for a Lake

SMACKOVER—(AP)—A flock of 25 wild geese died in a large oil pit near here recently after mistaking the surface for clear water.

This is not an unusual occurrence in the oil fields, as each year the oil ponds become the graveyards of wild geese mistaking it for water. The heavy oil weighs them down into the pond, destroying their chance of flying away.

Will Drawn in Hebraic Form Admitted to Probate

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Drawn in the ancient Hebraic form and in clear Hebrew characters, the will of Aaron Zomborg, was recently admitted to probate in the Register of Wills office.

A translation shows the document was dated "eleventh day of the month of Tebeth, year 5691 since the creation of the world."

The translated will is interestingly worded in quaint Biblical phrases. According to a translator, it is declared by the witness that:

"Whereas he sent after us, did Mr. Aaron, the son of Mordecai Zomborg, and we came to him and we found him lying confined to his sick bed and he spoke with his own mouth and said: 'Behold, I have sent after you to make a will before you are commanded, because of death, and thus did he command us that after my death he who is entitled to my estate, not according to the law of Moses shall inherit only the house I own in Canada with my brother's law."

Hope For School Building This Year Greatly Increased

State Architect Again Visits the Local Plant

RETURNS NEXT WEEK

Definite Plans Will Then Be Submitted to the School Board

A visit from architect Weaver of the State Department of Education last Monday gave rise to increased hope that a new school building will be erected here before the opening of school next fall. Those who are charged with the responsibility of the school have been working hard to get the school board to agree to a new building, but the delay has caused some anxiety and doubt in the minds of the community.

Mr. Weaver made only a brief visit to the school building, but he made some measurements of the present building that have been made since Mr. Baker's visit here in early February. He and Mr. Baker will both return either Monday or Tuesday of next to submit definite plans for the building program which will include Blevins and McCaskill. He also spoke very encouragingly concerning the possibility of the program being carried out. This is one of the very first projects with which the State Department will deal this year and all indications are it will be pushed to completion this summer.

Shipment Delayed By Unusual Cold Weather Last Week

Six Cars From Blevins and Three From Dunlap Are Cleared

PEAK EXPECTED SOON

Pickers Scarce According to Growers Who Have Large Acres

Despite the continued cold weather radishes are being harvested and shipped from the Blevins territory. Last week six cars left Blevins and three were loaded from Dunlap.

This makes a total of ten cars from this immediate section this year. If M. Stephens says that the prices quoted are still encouraging and the crop is expected to return considerable cash to the community.

Shipment this week is expected to about double that of last week should the weather turn warmer and next week, according to advice of the growers will be the banner week of the season.

Two car loads were completed at the Blevins shed Monday. The force at the shed has been increased to now approximately fifty men and is employed in the packing of the radishes.

Several of the growers who have in large acreages are handicapped on account of not being able to secure help to pull the radishes in the field. One grower is reported to have nine acres planted and so far has secured only enough pickers to get more than a few bushels harvested each day.

In one field east of Blevins Monday afternoon 48 hands were counted pulling and tying radishes. This is a job that most every member of one's family can do. The radishes are pulled and tied in bunches with cotton string, from five to eighteen radishes being tied in one bunch.

These bunches are then gathered from the field and hauled to the packing sheds where they are dumped into the washing vats. Men with pitchforks stir them around in the water until all the dirt is washed off and then pitch them into bins, from which they are taken by the packers. The packers first numbers the radishes, then the number and name of the radishes in that bin. 100 bunches of radishes are packed into each box or crate.

Words of commendation were spoken by R. M. Props, vat man and R. C. Taylor, range rider, for the splendid cooperation they have received from the citizens of this community in the dipping program. They have completed their first round of fourteen votes in Wallaceburg and Redland townships and Monday began their second round at the Blevins vat. In every instance those with stock to dip have manifested a spirit of sympathy and cooperation making the task of those in charge both easy and pleasant.

In this territory there have been 1092 cattle and 642 horses dipped.
